Yosemite people have at last gotten a move on themselves and are putting the roads inside the corporate limits in apple pie order.

Road Supervisor J. R. Wilson tells us that he has never seen better work done on roads than is being done in this magisterial district. He says the work is of a lasting nature and will not have to be done over again next year. Our roads were in a deplorable condition and we are glad Mr. Wilson is succeeding in having good work done on them.

Mrs. Wilson and little daughter, of Somerset, are visiting Mrs. Jason Coffey at Yosemite. Rev. W. G. Tilford is holding a meeting at Arabia, Lincoln county. Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Judd, of Bowling Green, are at Mrs. Mary R. Fogie's. J. T. Short went to Science Hill Sunday. Steuben Godbey and his mother spent several days with W. J. Godbey and Mrs. C. C. Jones. August time, tells on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences depress first the "inside nerves" then the stomach, heart, and kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

The people are sick and tired of lawlessness and a vast majority of the members of all three of the farmers' organizations are with Gov. Willson in his efforts to redeem the good name of Kentucky from the national disgrace that has interfered with the prosperity of the State for two years. The change in public sentiment has been so pronounced in this regard that people no longer fear to express themselves or to invite speakers, whose views are well known, to address them.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidney nerves get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a make-shift. Get a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is prepared expressly for these weak inside nerves. Strengthens these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quickly help will come. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

Weak women should read my "Book No. 4 for Women." It tells of Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. Tells how these soothing healing, antiseptic suppositories, bring quick and certain help. The Book is free. Address Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Penny's Drug Store.

Miller Bros'. Wild West Show Coming Here.

The three Miller Brothers, owners of the famous 101 Ranch of Bliss, Okla., who are bringing their famous Wild West show to this city on Sept. 21, 1908, are natives of Kentucky. Their great prairie possession had its inception in the mind of the late George W. Miller, when he was rearing his boys in Crab Orchard, this county. The wonderful possibilities of the territory appealed forcibly to him as he cultivated his Kentucky acres. He journeyed westward with his family, settled temporarily in Winfield, Kas., and a few years later started as a homestead allotment what is now the largest and most renowned ranch in all the United States.

When Mr. Miller first cast his longing eyes toward Oklahoma, it was a veritable land of Indians and wild animals and wild birds, but the land was rich in prospect. He traversed it with droves of cattle and when the Cherokee Strip was opened, Joseph, the oldest son, made the run with the army of home-hungry settlers and planted the flag of ownership on the Salt Fork, a branch of the Arkansas river. Father and sons proved in less than half a dozen years the fallacy of the notion that the live stock industry on a great scale, was no longer immensely profitable; and the head of the family lived long enough to see his ranch grow to more than 100,000 acres and hear it commonly referred to as "the most famous ranch in the world."

The Miller Brothers buy and sell carloads of cattle as the average Western ranchman buys and sells one steer. Their pasture land is more than 600 times larger than his. As a matter of comparison it is larger than many European principalities. Here the "puncher" of the earlier border has not been dispossessed. Here is the superb freedom of the plains, unexchanged for the limits of section ownership. Here are the bunk-wagons, the "chuck" wagons, the round-up camps, the corrals, the trained cow-ponies and the wild horses, the lean, long-horned steers, the branding iron and the man who can make a lariat act as if enchanted—the figures and features that have vitalized Western history.

The 101 Ranch comprises one of the few remaining sections where the West is still "wild and woolly." Its pictures are of the real West—not the West that can be seen from a car window. Through the years it has retained, with its interminable sweep of prairie, its picturesque unconventionality.

The Miller Brothers are bringing their Wild West show to their native land on its first triumphant tour of the country. It was organized last summer at the Jamestown National Exposition and at New York City. The big enterprise has paid visits within the last two or three months to Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City and other large cities and has everywhere made a remarkable record of patronage and popularity. Every member of the organization is a regularly enrolled member of the colony employed on the ranch. Cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, horses, buffalo, marksmen and markswomen, lariat champions and all other figures are a part and product of the Oklahoma prairie. Their performance is announced as a revelation in outdoor amusements, tingling with real spirit of the frontier.

The show will introduce itself with a parade which is described as a veritable moving picture of the West. Two performances will be given here.

Served as coffee, the new coffee substitute known to grocers everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee, will trick even a coffee expert. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Pure healthful toasted grains, malt, nuts, etc. have been so cleverly blended as to give a wonderfully satisfying coffee taste and flavor. And it is "made in a minute," too. No tedious 20 to 30 minutes boiling. Penny's Drug Store.

The children had written compositions on the giraffe. They were reading them aloud to the class. At last the time came for little Willie Doran to read his. It was as follows:

"The giraffe is a dumb animal and cannot express itself by any sound, because its neck is so long, its voice gets tired on its way to its mouth."
